Early intervention and support for the family

Children’s palliative care can be provided as early as before and after the child’s birth.
Individualised care for specific needs

Children’s palliative care is evidence based, holistic and individualised to the specific needs of the child and family.
Care continues through transition and into young adulthood.

Children's palliative care provides medical, psychological, spiritual and social support to children from neonates to young adults.

13 October 2012
Children's palliative care improves quality of life through the management of pain and other distressing symptoms by trained practitioners and medical staff.

13 October 2012